Class Projects

- Introduction to HTML/CSS - Personal Web page: Web page designed to be based on an individual's personal interests. Used HTML/CSS.
- Object-Oriented Programming - Final: Covered multiple areas of Java being Arrays, Strings, GUIs, Classes, and Inherits. Used Java.
- Mobile Applications - Personal Introduction: Each person had to build an android application and have it feature things about themselves. The home page had buttons that went to categorized pages of things individuals enjoyed such as food, music, and hobbies. The application also would link to a LinkedIn page of a resume that used Java.
- Computer Programming Capstone - The Capstone was created to display three projects I created during my time at Pittsburgh Technical College, three projects each of my own design using different coding languages for each, and finally an about me page that holds my resume as well as a link to my LinkedIn page.
